Ex. 1: Site of the excavation of Heliopolis, 2015. Courtesy of the Egyptian Museum Georg Steindorff, University of Leipzig, Germany. The German expedition, upon their return after a year, found their excavation partly covered by a garbage dump, requiring them to start each morning by shoveling the trash out of the excavation. In 2016, an illegal concrete construction was found on the spot where they had begun excavating a temple the prior season.
